

Shenggen Fan, Ravi Kanbur, Shang-Jin Wei, Xiaobo Zhang, 2014

The Oxford Companion to the Economics of China, Oxford and New York: Oxford University Press, pp.xxi, 622

ISBN: 978-0-19-967820-4

Abstract:

Ninety-nine papers examine China's economy in the past, present, and future as well as China's aggregate performance, main sectoral trends, issues of inequality and the environment, and China's role in the world economy. Papers focus on the China model; future prospects for China; China and the global economy; trade and the Chinese economy; macroeconomics and finance; urbanization; industry and markets; agriculture and rural development; land, infrastructure, and environment; population and labor; the dimensions of well-being and inequality; health and education; gender equity; regional divergence in China; and China's provinces--selected perspectives. Fan is with the International Food Policy Research Institute. Kanbur is at Cornell University. Wei is with the Asian Development Bank. Zhang is at Peking University and the International Food Policy Research Institute. Index.